SUPERIOR COURT

Cases Pending, in Progress, Settled, With Interesting Details to San Mateo County Folks

Chris Stader, has brought suit against the Hartford Fire Insurance company of Hartford, to recover the sum of $1075. The complaint alleges that on September 22, 1910 plaintiff insured his property at Berseford with the company for $1000 and also took out a policy for the same amount on his furniture, that on December 9, 1912, the building was burned, together with two valuable pictures worth $75. Mr. Stader, in the complaint says that the property was fully worth $4000. He made demands on the company for the full amount of the policy, but it has refused to settle.

Ansel M. Easton has brought suit against the Burlingame Land and Water Company to abate a nuisance. The complaint alleges that defendants have placed an obstruction across a strip of land leading to lot 31, Burlingame Park, preventing plaintiff from having access to his property.

Samuel Saari has brought suit against M. Berman and others to foreclose a mechanic's lien on a building on lot 16, block 15, Vista Grande. The plaintiff is a contractor and the party who erected the structure. The amount sought to be recovered is $586.55.

John P. Gonsauls has commenced an action for damages against the Schaw-Batchers Co., of South San Francisco. The amount of damages sought to be recovered is $5000. The complaint alleges that on April 3, 1913, while plaintiff was employed in the factory of the defendant at South San Francisco, a heavy piece of steel fell from a large crane to the floor, striking plaintiff on the feet fracturing the bones of one leg and badly injuring the other limb. Gonsauls states in the complaint that the injuries occurred through the negligence and carelessness of the owners of the factory and asks damages to that amount, together with costs of suit.

Francisco M. Vivurino and others have brought suit against Edgar L. Wilson, and others, to quiet title to lot W, containing 19 acres and lot H, containing 23 acres, both pieces of and being a portion of the Johnson ranch near Half Moon Bay.

James A. Lee and Miss Mary Lee, owners of the Hotel Mateo property and other valuable holdings in San Mateo, are defendants in a suit for $1150 filed by Miss Madelyn Birdie Walsh, who lives with her father, A. J. Walsh, in the Hotel Mateo grounds.

Thomas J. Brady vs. L. S. Reading. Demurrer dropped from calendar.

Eddythe Daly vs. A. G. Daly. Trial continued to March 19.

Auto Gas Engine Co. vs. H. H. McEwen. Case ordered re-submitted.

Ethel S. Cook vs. J. W. Cook. Interlocutory decree of divorce granted plaintiff.

Geo. Dittus vs. Andrew S. Barron. Demurrer overruled and defendant allowed ten days to answer.

A. L. Stockton Lumber Co. vs. Patrick Doyle et al. Demurrer sustained and plaintiff given ten days to amend complaint.

C. H. Mullen vs. W. C. A. Koehncke, et al. Demurrer overruled by court.

Irene D. Armstrong vs. John F. Armstrong. Interlocutory decree of divorce granted plaintiff.

G. J. McGregor vs. Emelie McGregor. Notice of motion dropped from calendar.

Geo. W. Pennington et al vs. Thomas Pennington, et al. Notice of motion continued to March 19.

Maria Sjolholm vs. Emelia James. Judgment will be entered cancelling note and mortgage and defendant will be awarded damages in the sum of $500.

Frederick Hermann vs. Frank Peterson, et al. Judgment ordered for plaintiff but without recourse to C. Christensen.

Tony Canadas vs. Hugh Ridges et al. Judgment ordered for plaintiff for $29.39.

Joseph Steffen vs. Emma Steffen. Judgment ordered for defendant.

Mary A. Tobin vs. Henry W. Brown et al. Demurrers sustained with the right given plaintiff to amend if so advised by bringing in the owners of the land.

LOREN COBURN IS COMPETENT

"Friday, the 13th, Mighty Unlucky Day for Other Side," Declares Aged Man.

Loren Coburn, the 88-year-old Pescadero millionaire, walked out into Kearny street from the Hall of Justice Friday evening and was looking across the way to Stevenson's monument where a band of Chinese children played, when a bailiff of the court hurried out and said:

"The jury has returned a verdict and they say you are competent to handle your own estate."

The aged millionaire climbed back up the stairs so fast that it made the bailiff who followed breathless to keep up. When he got back into Judge Cabaniss' courtroom it was all over. The jury had been discharged. But if Coburn had needed any verification of the bailiff's words he found it when he saw his aged wife, Mrs. Salira Coburn, kissing and shaking hands with every one there whom she knew.

It had taken the jury three weeks to hear the evidence and arguments in the case, but when they had reached the jury room they did not even wait to sit down before balloting. One ballot was enough. This was the way the verdict read:

"We, the jury, on our verdict find the petitioner, Loren Coburn, is mentally competent and capable of taking care of himself and his property. (Signed)

"OTTO A. CRAMER, Foreman."

It ended a six-year struggle in the courts of San Mateo and San Francisco counties and in the Supreme and Appellate Courts to determine if the aged millionaire is mentally capable to handle his estate.

"This is Friday, the thirteenth," said Coburn, when he had concluded his congratulations with his attorneys. "That is a mighty unlucky day—for the other side. It has been that way with me all through life."

"Now, you say you would like to know what my first responsible act will be since I have been restored to competency? It is this: I am going back home. And when I get there I am going to check up accounts. I never felt younger in my life than I do right now."

"This has been a long, wearisome case, but it hasn't worried me, I knew how it would come out in the end. But I did think those jurors would want to have dinner before they voted on the verdict."

Here one of the jurors stepped up to Coburn and said:

"It seems to me that you ought to have a good bookkeeper."

"I have," said Coburn. "My wife is the best bookkeeper you ever saw."

There have been five trials in which Loren Coburn's competence has been tested in the courts. The first was in 1908 before Superior Judge George Buck of San Mateo county. He was declared competent. The second also was before Judge Buck, when he was declared incompetent. An appeal was taken and the decision reversed. The third trial was before Judge Dooling, who has since become a judge of the Federal Court. Here he was found to be incompetent before a jury. An appeal was taken to the Supreme Court, where the decision was affirmed.

Last June Coburn's attorneys filed a petition to have him restored to competency. It was tried before Superior Judge Cabaniss, sitting for Judge Buck. The jury disagreed. Then the case was transferred to San Francisco.

Three weeks ago the final trial began before Judge Cabaniss. Coburn was represented by Attorneys Archie Treat, John L. McNab and R. P. Henshall. The respondents were represented by Attorneys Matt Sullivan, Thomas Hickey and Eustace Cullinan. M. J. Hynes, public administrator, had been appointed guardian for Coburn.

Every Inch a Man

J. H. Flynn, a carpenter by occupation and for many years a respected resident of San Mateo, is seeking the office of constable for the second township. He has long been a leading spirit in the affairs of the Building Trades Council, among the members of which he knows not an enemy, and has every qualification to eminently fit him for the position. The writer has personally known him for a long time and can vouch for the truth contained in the claim made by the caption to this article.—Coast Side. Comet.

THE SUPERVISORS

The San Mateo Board of Supervisors met in regular session Monday with all members present.

Report of Motorcycle Policeman Brown was as follows:

Lowans, 14 days, 2 arrests, 2 convictions, fines $30.

Logan, 14 days, 6 arrests, 6 convictions, fines $45. 2 days jail sentence.

Vallejo, 12 days, 1 arrest, 1 conviction, fine $20.

Brown, 14 days, 7 arrests, 3 convictions, fines $30, 1 days jail sentence.

Several indigent applications were received and favorably acted upon.

The matter of publication of the delinquent tax notice of the county that had been referred to District Attorney Swart, rendered his decision that it would be necessary to advertise for bids. By motion of Casey seconded by MacBain it was decided that the same should be done at the proper time. This action was necessary on account of an ordinance that is in effect empowering the tax collector to give out this printing.

The matter of the Ravenwood road that had also been referred to the district attorney was decided that the same was a legal road, but the matter was continued until March 30.

Mr. Swart also stated that he had had the $75 Homestead plans carefully examined and that 88th, 89th and 90th streets and Railroad and Sullivan avenues were public streets. In stating this he mentioned incidentally that thirty years ago there was an order made by the supervisors "prohibiting pig styes on the public roads." This case was also continued until the 30th. Of the Abby Homestead Mr. Swart stated that the records showed Castle and San Bruno avenues to be public streets and Altiver street north to the mountain. Also Market street.

Ransom street in Daly City, Mr. Swart said was a legal street only for school purposes, the school Vista Grande site having been originally sold with that street designated as

GIANT INITIATION HELD BY MOOSE

Twenty-Five Hundred Enter Order at Ceremony Led by San Francisco Jurist.

Twenty-five hundred candidates to Moosedom were put through a series of rituals Sunday in Dreamland Rink and before night became full-fledged members of the order. This was one of the features of the four day's convention started Saturday by the Moose.

Judge George Crothers of the Superior Court was sponsor for the applicants and went through the secret work while the newly made members looked on. Those in charge of the ceremonies were Frank Monaha, dictator; Thomas Roach, past dictator; Marc Anthony, past dictator; Frank J. Devlin, treasurer; Louis A. Eaton, secretary, and Dr. Louis Kuttner, financial secretary.

After the events in Dreamland Rink a banquet, at which were seated 500, was given in Knights of Columbus Hall to the national supreme officers, who are attending the convention. Supreme Dictator Walter E. Dorn made an address, reviewing the objects of the Loyal Order of Moose and the strides it has made since its inception ten years ago. He laid especial stress on the necessity of co-operation from the rank and file of the order in making Moose Heart, a city built and controlled by the Moose near Aurora, Ill., a full success.

Dorn was followed by James J. Davis of Pittsburg, supreme dictator, whose speech created enthusiasm.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

John S. McCormick, aged 23 and Buelah Cochrane, aged 21, both of Oakland.

Oscar F. Bergman, aged 52, Oakland and Nancy Bergman, aged 46, San Jose.

Raymond C. O'Brien, aged 31, and Martha Broz, aged 27, both of San Francisco.

Robert West, aged 32, and Bessie Weidner, aged 26, both of San Francisco.

Henry Franki, aged 31, and Josephine Morey, aged 34, both of Palo Alto.

a street. Swart stated that he had written to the school board regarding it and that an action will be instituted by the Jefferson School District to settle the matter.

The San Mateo News' modest request to be given $300 of the taxpayer's money croaked in dense silence—not a supervisor considered the matter worthy of a motion.

A contract was let to the American Bank Protection Co. to keep electric apparatus of the vaults in repair for the sum of $15 a year.

By motion the clerk was ordered to advertise for the second section of the San Pedro Mountain road in the Redwood City Democrat and Daly City Record.

Clerk was instructed to write to Federal Construction Co. to begin work on the Middlefield road at once.

By resolution it was unanimously decided to maintain the county highway on the east side of the Southern Pacific between Beresford crossing and Redwood City, notwithstanding the State Highway will follow the more direct line on the west side of the Southern Pacific.

By motion of Casey, the Clerk was instructed to write to the Southern Pacific Company for right-of-way deeds on the Bay Shore road.

Supervisor Brown reported on his trip to Los Angeles where he went as a guest of the California Automobile Association, that the proposition of assisting in the way of buying State Highway bonds to furnish the State Highway from San Francisco to Los Angeles recommended that this county buy $100,000 worth of the bonds. Treasurer Chamberlain was called and stated that the money was available and he thought it a good investment to get 4 per cent interest instead of 2 per cent interest.

The board was petitioned to order a light in Alamany street, opposite the Jefferson School, Colma, in Colma Lighting District.

Adjourned to March 30th.

APPRAISERS' REPORTS

William Turnbull, C. W. Elving and H. W. Schaberg, appraisers of the estate of Josephine H. Wilson, deceased, have filed their inventory and appraisal. The total value same on hand amounts to $319, 22. Portion of block 16, Western Addition to San Mateo is appraised at $1500, improvements thereon $2000. Another portion of the same block is valued at $750, improvements $1000, and household effects $25.

H. W. Schaberg, Henry Root and Frank S. Grummon, appraisers of the estate of Miranda E. Mills, deceased. The total value of the estate is placed at $83,112.35. It consists of cash in the Bank of Italy amounting to $112,35, lot 5, block 5, San Mateo is appraised at $6500, lot 6, block 5, is valued at $4500. There are two two-story buildings on the property. A lot on Grant avenue, San Francisco, is appraised at $66,000, an interest in a building on Sutter street, San Francisco, is valued at $5000, household furniture $500, a plot in Cypress Lawn Cemetery, $500.

J. C. Williamson, C. J. Coburn and H. W. Schaberg, appraisers of the estate of John Quardo, deceased, have filed their inventory and appraisal. The total value of the estate is placed at $5672.20. It consists of cash on hand amounting to $1127.20. Twenty acres of land and improvements near Pescadero is appraised at $4000. The personal property is valued at $545. Franklin Swart is the attorney for the estate.

San Mateo County Center

At the last meeting of the San Mateo County Center held at the Woman's Club House, Redwood City, Mrs. Jefferson Gray, of Palo Alto, gave a very able talk on sanitation, and pointed out ways and means for the extermination of flies and mosquitoes.

The interest in the Center is steadily growing, and Mr. Leslie Whitney has offered to come and speak to the Center as soon as he declares it can be of immense good working along with his committee.

The next meeting will be held at the Colma Hall, Colma on Tuesday, April 14, at 2 p. m. All the public is most cordially invited.

ELECTRIC LINE

TO PALO ALTO

Fred A. Stokes Promises $4,000,000 Enterprise If He Can Get Right of Way.

An electric railway from San Francisco to Palo Alto, equipped to meet all the requirements of Peninsula commuters will be built at once if the San Mateo County Development Board procures the right of way.

This is the declaration of Fred A. Stokes, who put the project before the executive committee of the San Mateo board, and who says that he can furnish the necessary funds on the day the right of way problem is solved. Frankly confessing himself a promoter, Stokes said yesterday the same result might be accomplished by any man with a comprehensive financial acquaintance, and during the day procured the pledge of a San Francisco business man to invest $200,000 in the project under the conditions prescribed.

Stokes is proceeding on the theory that Peninsula growth has been retarded through lack of rapid transit and cheap fares. The report for 1913 shows that 40,000,000 people used the commutation service across the bay. He asserts competition will result in installation of the service by both the Southern Pacific and the United Railroads and that the fares will regulate themselves.

That the millionaire land owners of San Mateo county will donate a right of way to a responsible organization was the assertion of a representative of one of the largest holdings.

"Ten years ago, when William R. Hearst began to hammer the transportation facilities of Long Island, the country was a wilderness," he said. "In the borough of Queens today there are 1,500,000 people who have found homes in a locality previously inaccessible, and the building permits in a year numbered 4,000. The situation is parallel. San Mateo has not been able to get the service required through operating companies and we propose to furnish it."

"There would be a flat rate of 10c per mile to San Mateo," continued Stokes, "as against a 25c charge by the United Railroads. One of the stimulating influences in the effort to bring about the new railroad's construction is the fact that the San Mateo board is now waging a fight against the Southern Pacific for reduced passenger rates. Seth Mann, it is said, is preparing a complaint, to be filed with the Railroad Commission within a fortnight, asking radical cuts in the existing tariffs."

James Scott Cronk Is Laid to Eternal Rest.

The remains of James S. Cronk, formerly constable of the Third township for eight years, who died at the Soldiers' home near Los Angeles, last Sunday, arrived here Tuesday afternoon and were at once taken to the Redwood City Undertaking Parlors on Broadway. The funeral took place from there the following afternoon. Long before the hour set for the funeral service the parlors were crowded with sorrowing relatives and friends of the deceased. The beautiful services of the Methodist church were conducted by Pastor Young in an impressive manner. At Union Cemetery the services were under the auspices of Embarkadero Camp, Woodmen of the World, the impressive ritual service being read by Commander F. N. Harris. The deceased served in the U. S. Navy during the Spanish American war, and was honorably discharged. Mr. Cronk was 37 years old.

"Jim" Cronk, as he was known by his many friends, grew up, and lived in Redwood City until a few months ago when he was afflicted with eye trouble which rendered him almost totally blind. Through the efforts of friends he was sent to the Soldiers' Home, where it was hoped his sight might be restored. Cronk served with distinction in the navy during the Spanish American war.

He is survived by a widow, Mrs. Minnie Cronk, and three children, Bryant, Irene and Gladys, all of whom reside in this city. His mother, Mrs. Byers, lives in San Jose and a married sister, Mrs. Charles Nichols, is in San Francisco. His father, the late Samuel Cronk, was the owner of a livery stable here for many years.—Times Gazette.

It is announced there is no peanut trust. Thanks be.

PACIFIC COAST SIDE

What Our Neighbors Along the Pacific's Shore Have Been Doing, Are Doing and Will Continue To Do

Mrs. J. J. Higgins, who has been very ill is improving in health.

County Engineer and Mrs. James V. Neuman of Redwood City were at Montara Saturday looking over the boulevard route.

Roy McAulliffe, one of the surveyors who surveyed for the boulevard between Montara and Half Moon Bay, has been transferred to San Gregorio.

Miss Irene DeMartini of San Francisco is in Half Moon Bay visiting Miss Irene Debenedetti and other friends.

Antone Manuel Luis, aged 72 and well and favorably known on the Coast Side, having resided here many years, died last week.

The trout season opens on April 1st. The streams on the Coast Side are alive with this finny tribe, many of which will be fooled on the first day of April.

The carpenters are busy building an addition to the artichoke cannery and three carloads of equipments have arrived here for them during the past week.

Five thousand acres of land in and near Half Moon Bay have been planted to peas and twenty thousand sowed to grain. Everything points to a banner crop of both.

A Souvenir company of San Francisco has leased the second story of the factory building of the soda works at Miramar and will make souvenirs from kelp and sea shells.

On Tuesday and Wednesday of this week the packing house of the Coast Side Artichoke Growers Association received over 800,000 pounds of chokes, which has been sent to Eastern markets.

Father Berthola of Ocean View spent an enjoyable time with Father Andriano in Half Moon Bay Monday and Tuesday. Being classmates in days gone by, the visit was fraught with much pleasure to both.

Fred Boisen, manager Omaha, Neb. branch of California Redwood Atlas Tanks, was at Farallone visiting C. J. Horn and C. M. Johnson. Mr. Boisen owns property in the Coast Side Triangle and after a tour of this section he sees a great future for us.

A. Bailey, who confessed to a misdemeanor charge last week before Justice Pitcher in preference to standing trial for a graver offense was fined $50. He wasted lots of water when the supply was short by secretly connecting with the water company's mains. This seems to be a case in which too much water is as hurtful to one's pocketbook as too much whisky.

Something's Eating You, Br'er News

In response to an inquiry from County Tax Collector A. McSweeney, the State Board of Control has advised that the law provides that the delinquent tax list shall be submitted by the board of supervisors for bids. A Coast Side printer recently asked the board how the delinquent tax list was to be let out this year. County Tax Collector A. McSweeney immediately sought advice and was informed the supervisors shall issue a call for bids on the work.—San Mateo County News.

Yes, it was "a Coast Side printer" who "asked," but the News did not credit the "Coast Side printer" with showing how the county could save nearly a thousand a year by having the delinquent tax list printed by advertising for bids. That was not news. The "Coast Side printer" was present at the previous meeting of the board when the News man unblushingly asked the board for three hundred dollars to aid the paper in getting out a special edition. The "printer from the Coast Side" butted in here, too, but no mention of either circumstance was made by that paper. Neither was that news for the News.—Coast Side Comet.

LAND APPEARS.

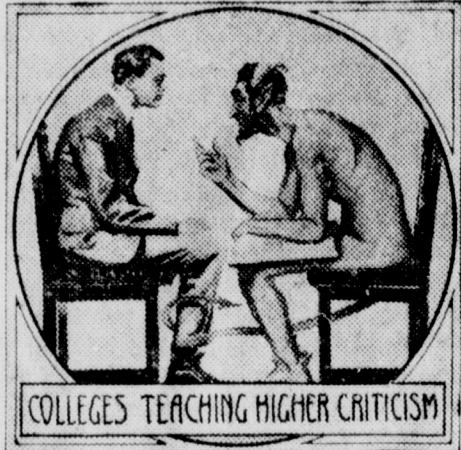

The moving picture film, beginning with the far-off days when chaos lay on the waters, is depicting for us how God called the earth into being from the void and how He has upheld it and sustained it and carried it onward and upward toward its divinely appointed goal. All this is done while machinery, reproducing synchronously the tones of the human voice, helps in entertaining, enlightening and instructing the auditor.

All this is being accomplished and will be accomplished by the marvelous photo-drama of "Creation," produced by the International Bible Students Association. This body of earnest and active supporters and disseminators the hidden, mechanical lecturer, speaking in tones of eloquence and might, explains clearly each picture.

Scenes Staged in Holy Land.

The preparation of the films used in the exhibitions has involved a considerable expense and activities conducted in all parts of the world. The cameras have been carried into the Holy Land, and there on the Mount of Olives and in Jerusalem have been found the backgrounds for re-enacted tragedies. Nature has not changed the face of the land of Palestine much for so many centuries, and the houses and the customs and dress are much as they were before the Christian era.

The Ordeals of the Martyrs.

Some of the most graphic representations of the films have to do with the ry of the earth's creation, progress and development.

First Production in New York. A start was made in New York City, where a large theater building was opened to the public, free of charge. Then followed Cincinnati, St. Louis, Cleveland, Toledo, Boston, Indianapolis, Los Angeles and San Francisco. Men, women and children are thronging to hear and see the story of their early struggles of the Christian Church. Many stereopticon slides are also introduced, bearing reproductions of famous paintings.

The International Bible Students Association operates under a British charter and has offices at Lancaster Gate W., London. Its American headquarters are at No. 17 Hicks street, Brooklyn. The association is supported by voluntary contributions. It has a large staff of lecturers, and its ac-ancestors and themselves. Before them pass the pictures which tell how the earth began and how it has struggled and is struggling upward to the light. They sit entranced, for, as the drama of dramas unfolds, the voice of

SOME SAYINGS

One of the hardest things is to convince the man with a full stomach that there is somebody hungry.

I do not believe in anything being taxed that is made by human hands.

I should like to wipe out that part of capital which is not produced by labor.

I do not believe people are lazy by nature; they are lazy by reason of being forced to be lazy.

There is no such thing as monopoly of labor; there is nonopoly of land.

I sometimes think that we Americans are the most easily ricked and fooled people on earth.

If we had an educational fund of $1,000,000 a year, we'd upset the world in twenty years, as to economic conditions. It will be one of ten to supply the funds.

We can not get rich under present conditions without robbing somebody. I have done it and am still doing it, but I propose to spend the damnable money to wipe out the system by which I made it.

The gentleman who holds a deed to vacant land does not want to dig or build; he wants to use a carving-knife on some other man.

If there was 2 1/2 per cent. tax on land values, I believe that within five years four jobs would be running after three men, instead of four men running after three jobs.

When I turn my toes up to the daises and go to enrich the flowers, my money will be no help to me. I feel that I had better put it where it will do the most good now, while I have breath and a few brains left to apply it.

A social system which so restricts opportunities for employment that thousands gladly accept a chance to work amid the most unhealthy surroundings, under the most harmful conditions, inevitably produces consumptives by the thousands.

MORE LIKE A FOOTRACE.

In an argument the other day a well-fed standpatter spoke what he thought was, of course, the last word when he said, emphatically:

"You can't legislate money into the pockets of the unsuccessful."

But you can. And that is one of the very jobs which Uncle Sam and all the little Sams have before 'em—to put money into the pockets of the unsuccessful.

How?

By the logical and humane process of doing away with the artificial handicaps to success—by giving to all folks a fair start and chance.

"But men aren't born equal and you can't make 'em equal."

Very true. It would be a dull world if they were. Inequalities in capacity make the variety which is to life what salt is to food.

But if from the bowed backs of the unsuccessful were lifted the crushing burdens which human injustice has placed there; if every child had an even chance to "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness," he who succeeded more than another would have the consolation of knowing that his title to superior success was clean, while the laggard would have no just ground of complaint.

What we have to do is to make life more like a foot race, with the runners fairly toeing the go-off line, responding evenly to the pistol shot and getting to the tape each as fast as he can.

The trouble now is that around the legs of most of the entries privilege has tied balls and chains.

Legislation not only can, but it MUST file 'em off.

The editor of an exchange comments on the fate of those who attract the fire of the critics, knockers and pigmies of the labor movement, saying in part: "Too often in this life when a person has attained a high pinnacle of success and becomes as he believes firmly perched upon its pedestal, he becomes the target of rabid scandal mongers and much rakers. The little trivial things and incidents of his life are delved into until they grow from the proverbial molehill to mountains in size. Even though the incidents themselves do not reflect upon his truthfulness, trustworthiness, honesty of purpose, or ability to fill the position he occupies."

A militant English suffragette has slashed a $500,000 painting in the British National Gallery, as a protest against the refusal of Parliament to grant suffrage to some English women. Thank the Lord, no American woman has attempted to prove her fitness for the ballot by destroying works of art, or other property.

The other day when she was about to marry him, a woman in Colorado discovered that her prospective husband was her long-lost-brother. Probably she immediately took advantage of the old opportunity to "promise to be a sister to him."

They danced the tango in a special car on a train going fifty miles an hour the other day; some trains are better adapted to the hesitation.

The reason why some men are in authority is not apparent to many, but if given a chance at the big desk they would soon find out.

Vermont has a direct primary law. Since that State has awakened, there's hope for every bloomin' mummy in the Egyptian pyramids.

SUMMING UP RESULTS

A list of achievements of the Wilson administration has been issued by the Democratic National Committee, as follows:

- Revision of the tariff downward.
- Enactment of currency reform.
- Elimination of the lobby from the halls of Congress.
- Perfection and operation of the income tax and direct election of Senators. Amendments to the Constitution.

Negotiations of treaties in accord with the Bryan peace plan, thirty governments having signified their intention to accept.

By public appearances at the Capitol the President has emphasized the ending of government by secret conferences and private arrangement.

Passage of the industrial employees' arbitration act, which prevented a strike of Eastern railway employees.

"Constitution of peace" policy, resulting in voluntary breaking up of the interlocking directorate system.

Deposit by the Secretary of the Treasury of $50,000,000 to facilitate the moving of the crops.

Farm credit legislation emphasized by the President, and legislation assured.

Modified self-government conferred on the Filipinos.

Divorcement of the Government from alliance with New York financial interests in international affairs.

Co-Operative policy of the Department of Justice, resulting in voluntary dissolution by big corporations in accord with provisions of the Anti-Trust law.

Policy of "diplomatic postponement" or "watchful waiting," backed by high moral grounds, applied to the Mexican and Japanese questions and approved by public opinion.

Postoffice Department made self-sustaining.

Parcel post system developed and extended, and express rates reduced in consequence.

Change in the rules of Congress, resulting in the elimination of Cannonism.

Extension of pure food and meat inspection acts, with resulting benefits to consumers.

Scientific method of marketing farm products with a view to the elimination of waste undertaken by the Department of Agriculture.

Armor-plate Trust forced by the Secretary of the Navy to reduce its bids, at a saving to the Government of more than $2,000,000.

Extension of the special delivery system to the parcel post.

Home life of the farmer made a subject of special study by the Department of Agriculture.

Protection of the law given to Indian children and favoritism abolished by the Commissioner of Indian Affairs.

Public land policy embracing conservation of natural resources and utilization at the same time, adopted by the Secretary of the Interior.

Farm extension measure carrying to the farmers the benefits of the scientific study of experts passed.

Emphasis given by the President to the presidential preference primary plan. Legislation is believed probable.

Better protection for passengers and property at sea provided by London conference in which views of delegates sent by the Administration were largely adopted.

Early enactment of the Alaskan Railway bill opening up Alaska promised.

Academic, vocational and technical instruction for enlisted men in the Navy provided by Secretary of the Navy.

Dissolution of the Southern Pacific merger and surrender of stock of stock held by Pennsylvania Railroad in its competitor, the Baltimore & Ohio, accomplished along lines agreeable to the Administration.

Prosecutions begun against several large trusts which have not agreed to a settlement along peaceful lines.

FATHER TIME

Old Father Time was a querulous fellow.
He carried a scythe in a threatening way
And made grave remarks on the sere and the yellow,
As the sands of his hourglass flowed on; day by day.
His whiskers were long and as white as the snowing
That sprinkles the earth that cheerless and cold.
And his only ambition consisted in showing
A picture that's weary and dreary and old.
But now he abandons his habit so gloomy.
The costume is natty in which he appears;
All space in his ballroom so gorgeous and roomy
As he tangoes to harmonies made by the spheres.
His whiskers are colored like sunsets so striking,
They wave with the cadence of music or rhyme,
And the funeral march is no more to his liking.
"Just play something lively," says Old Father Time.

To save an editor from starvation, take his paper and pay for it promptly. To save him from bankruptcy, advertise in his paper liberally. To save him from despair, send him every item of news you can get hold of. To save him from profanity, write your correspondence plainly on one side of the sheet and send it in as soon as possible. To save him from mistakes, bury him—dead people are the only ones who never make mistakes.—By a Preacher.

Mrs. Florence Kelly, of New York, secretary of the National Consumers' League, tells the House Committee on Labor that Congress and the States have enacted many laws to protect fish, pigs, oysters and crops, but have forgotten to protect the children. Which, being true, doesn't speak well for Congress and State Legislatures.

BIBLE STUDY ON

PARABLES OF THE KINGDOM.

Luke 13:18-30—March 22.

"Not every one that saith unto Me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the Kingdom of Heaven; but he that doeth the will of My Father which is in Heaven."—Matthew 7:21.

TWO illustrations of the Kingdom occur in this lesson. In one case the Lord likens the Kingdom to a grain of mustard seed, which from a small beginning became a large bush, in whose branches the birds lodged. This evidently was intended to picture the outward appearance of the Church—so prosperous as to invite the birds. Elsewhere Jesus declared that the birds represented the Wicked One and his agents, ever ready to take away the seed of Truth and to work adversely as respects the Gospel program. (Matt. 13:4, 19.) In Revelation also the Great Teacher speaks of the Church as becoming Babylon, confusion, and "a cage of every unclean and hateful bird."—Revelation 18:2.

Again the Master illustrated the experience of His Church as an embryonic Kingdom. His second parable tells of a woman who hid some leaven in three measures of meal, until the whole was leavened. This, Bible students are coming to understand, signifies a corrupting of the Divine Message—the spiritual food which God had prepared for the Church.

A woman in symbolic language represents a church system; and the Master tells us that such a church system will mix leaven, ferment, in the food of God's family until the whole mass will be corrupted. For be it noted that in the Bible leaven is always used as a symbol of sin. This parable shows that the faith once delivered to the saints will be mixed with error, until it will no longer be nourishing to the family. St. Paul pictures the same matter, saying that in the latter days "some shall depart from the faith, giving heed to seducing spirits and doctrines of demons."—1 Timothy 4:1.

These false doctrines are what are troubling the people of God today. Our hearts are better than our heads; for the hearts of the consecrated are in tune with the Infinite One, while the creeds of the Dark Ages are quite out of tune. The blessings coming to Bible students result from breaking loose from the creeds formulated in the Dark Ages and getting back to the teachings of Scripture. The Word of God is sufficient, that the man of God may be thoroughly furnished.—2 Tim. 3:16, 17.

Some dear Christian people, looking at matters from a wrong angle, are still deceived into thinking that it is possible for the Church, as the Kingdom of God in an embryonic condition, to do the work which God assigns to that church in her future, glorified condition.

The Called Saved.

Some inquired of the Lord, Will there be but few saved? Jesus did not give a direct answer, doubtless for two reasons:

- (1) The Holy Spirit had not yet come, and His followers could not then understand God's Plan thoroughly.
- (2) It was not due time to explain all the particulars of the spiritual salvation of the Church, and then later the restitution of the world to human perfection.

For a certain time the door to the High Calling stands ajar. The possibilities of entering were first presented to the Jews. After finding the "Israelites indeed" God has directed this selection amongst the Gentiles for more than eighteen centuries. Apparently the gathering of the Elect is nearly completed. As soon as the last one shall have passed through the door, it will shut.

About that time, a great awakening of religious thought will come to the world, in the midst of a great Time of Trouble. Then many will begin to say that they have neglected the prize. There will be lamentations amongst this class, and a crying, Lord, Lord, are we not to be of the Bride class?

But the Lord will disown them as respects the Bride company. Then they will be in great sorrow. Weeping and gnashing of teeth will prevail. This will not be in some far-off place of eternal torture, as once we supposed; but, as the narrative intimates, it will be right here on earth, amongst a class who neglected the privileges of the High Calling when they knew of it.

The Lord intimates that some of these will have been in close touch with Him and His followers. They had a form of godliness and claimed to have done many mighty works, yet the Lord will disown them as respects Kingdom privileges. They will not have a share even in the earthly Kingdom. It will be given to the Worthies of the past who lived and died before the High Calling was opened up.

The heirs of the Kingdom will not be entirely Jewish; for Israel as a nation was not sufficiently holy. When the call to joint-heirship went to the Gentiles, some came from all directions to share in the Kingdom. Thus the first in privilege and opportunity failed.

Woman's World

Pretty Girl Appointed Game Warden.

MISS NORMA FREDERIC GIBBONEY.

"I have already made two arrests for game violations. I had no trouble with the prisoners. I carried a revolver and a shotgun, and the pothunters knew that I could use either of them."

Which announcement goes to show that Miss Norma Frederic Gibboney didn't become game warden merely to wear a bright badge. Miss Gibboney was appointed warden recently by Governor Emmet O'Neal of Alabama. She probably is the only woman in the United States with this sort of commission.

When the news of her appointment was made public the pothunters in their nuts along the Mobile bay marshes thought it a good joke.

"She's one of these society women," they laughed. "She never would come out on a rainy day for fear of getting her feet wet. On with the killing!"

They were fully convinced of their mistake when the handsome warden came upon two of their number slaughtering ducks and marched them in with one hand resting significantly on the black butt of the revolver at her hip.

Miss Gibboney's home is Aloha. It stands among acres of forest and foliage. Mobile bay stretches away to the east, and at the back is the Dog river. She is a deadly shot with a rifle and can bring down the mallards from behind a blind with the best shots in Mobile. It was her love for animals and not the passion for hunting that led her to become one of the Alabama game police.

"It is the birds that I particularly want to protect," said Miss Gibboney recently when speaking about her work. "We seldom realize how much good they do. If they didn't prey constantly on the insects we would be without vegetation before very long. I am familiar with every bird of Alabama. Ten years ago you could see flocks of beautiful blue cranes in the edge of the water out there. Now they are curiosities."

"I have recently fitted out a log cabin in the midst of ten acres of forest that is just as nature made it. I intend to spend the rest of my life there."

Miss Gibboney is well known over the entire south. She is a frequent visitor to New Orleans. She is a descendant of Zack Taylor, Patrick Henry and the Virginia Sheltons. She is prominent in society. From now on she won't see much of receptions and pink teas.

Concerning Women.

Mrs. Elsie Clews Parsons of New York has written a book which she calls "The Old Fashioned Woman." Mayor Gaynor, who generally is credited with saying what he thinks, declared that it is a most interesting book, but suggests that the title might be changed to "Primitive Fancies About the Sex."

Mrs. Metcalf resides at the station at Sackett Harbor, on Lake Ontario, and looks after the buildings, which are old and worn, for $1 a day. She is therefore the only woman "dominant" in the United States and was present when the monument to commemorate the victory in the war of 1812 was dedicated recently.

Miss Elizabeth C. Berdan in "Reminiscences of a Diplomat's Wife," by Mrs. Hugh Fraser, is described as a former friend of the grandchildren of Queen Victoria. Upon one occasion one of the princesses gave her a ring and excused the fact that it was not a more expensive one by the remark, "But, you know, Granny Vic is so stingy."

Mrs. Susie Root Rhodes, librarian of the League of American Penwomen, is a member of the school board of Washington and has been chosen by the commissioners to represent the District of Columbia at the international congress of school hygiene to be held in Buffalo the last week in August. She is one of the editors of a cookbook now in the press.

MISS CLARA A. JESS PROTESTS.

The infamous tactics that are being employed by the frantic administration gang regardless of truth, decency and sense, to retain their grip upon the people's throats and continue their carnival of incompetency, is well illustrated in the following letter that came voluntarily to the editor of the Record:

Daly City, Cal., March 16, 1914.

Editor,
Daly City Record.

Dear Sir:
The issue of "Common Sense" of March 13th makes the statement that I was "abused and sneered at" by the Daly City Record while holding office as City Recorder.

I wish to say that this is not so, and I do not wish my name to be used by the candidates for City Trustee on the Socialist ticket in an attempt to further their own interests, by making unjust criticism of anyone over my shoulder. I am not in politics, am opposing no one, and it appears unnecessary to resort to the above tactics.

Very respectfully,
CLARA A. JESS.

The very fact that an effort should be made to use people who are self-respecting, to further their nefarious ends, shows that characteristic of depravity that admits of no good in others.

Everybody understands that Miss Jess is not in accord with the Record in its present advocacy of the Citizens League of Daly City, yet her high sense of honor asserts itself and she will not tolerate the use of her name to further the interests of those whose only stock in trade is villainous misrepresentation and vile slander.

The Common Sense (?) maliciously misrepresented Miss Jess. Its viperous malice is exposed so that all else that it says must be weighed under the same standard.

IS THE DALY CITY RECORD AN ISSUE?

Cold, Stubborn Facts of the Incompetency of the governing majority of the city trustees, has stripped them of every legitimate argument, so they have trained their batteries upon the relentless enemy of their most rotten city government.

They harp from Hades to Breakfast, the poor ginks, that the printing bills of the first city administration was $700. They were—and that includes every conceivable bit of stationery, books, election expenses; probably half of which was paid to San Francisco printing firms and stationers, for everything had to be bought, and the other half to the Daly City Record for publishing ordinances and some other printing, so that all the people might know what was being done, instead of paying more money per annum, as has been done during the past two years, for typewriting (on a $95 second-hand typewriter), a less number of ordinances, so that no one could see them unless they hiked down to the lumber yard and there awaited the pleasure of the Sinths who are always busy sucking the municipal teat of Daly City.

Incidentally, that $700 included the expenses of a city election. Now, this city election, April 13, 1914, with five precincts will cost the taxpayers not less than $450, which is over two-thirds of that awful $700 printing expense of the first administration.

If the Daly City Record received $350 for printing ordinances including some stationery, every dollar was spent in Daly City and for Daly City's improvement, while, during the past two years, all the city's printing has been done in San Francisco by printing firms that not only pay no taxes in Daly City, but join in the ridicule of the cheap vaudeville to the discredit of our municipality.

The facts seem to be, that like the itemized statement of receipts and disbursements, to show where that $5,329.43 was wasted, that the Record offered to publish Free of Cost, they do not want the people to know what their ordinances are.

As for the Daly City Record being an issue in this campaign—the proprietor is pleased that the frantic administration tax-wasters have nothing else to howl about. Ipso facto—Under no possible contingency could the revenue for printing ordinances in any one year exceed half the amount that was required during the first year when all the laws for governing the city had to be enacted.

"San Francisco will take care of its own unemployed, but of no others," says the Chronicle. But why not take some steps to prevent unemployment? Every vacant lot is an opportunity for employment. Why not encourage owners of vacant lots to put improvements upon their lots, instead of taxing men when they make improvements?

More than 1400 German manufacturers have made arrangements to exhibit at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition, and the German steamship lines will bring the exhibits to San Francisco and take them back free of charge. So it doesn't make so much difference that the German Government is not making an official exhibit.

SUPERVISOR JAMES T. CASEY

The filing of that recall petition against Supervisor James T. Casey is as unfortunate as it is unjust.

Unfortunately, because where peace should abide for the good of San Mateo county and particularly for the First township, the spirit of incendiary strife will retard the wheels of progress just at a time when we can least afford to hamper the efforts of one of the best supervisors that our county has ever had.

Unjust, because there is no specific charge for the reason that Mr. Casey's official record is without blemish—he being strictly honest and efficient—so that this assault upon his character is meritless and probably results from personal spite and jealousy of a few soreheads who have been unable to use him to enhance their personal greed at the expense of the people.

The alleged charge is, general incompetency followed by a very serious reflection against Mr. Casey's personal character, so that the signers of the petition have laid themselves liable to both criminal prosecution and civil action in such a way that Mr. Casey will probably be compelled to proceed against them individually. Just who the signers are, will be made public later when their names are published.

James T. Casey was elected to the position of Supervisor of the First township six years ago next November and proved so thoroughly proficient that he was re-elected four years later through the efforts of the very best people in the First township, and it is not at all likely that they will care to reverse themselves to try an experiment when there is no real demand for a change, or the slightest indication that our present supervisor has failed in his whole duty.

The Best Yet, and More to Follow.

As announced in our last issue, the inaugural meeting of the "Woman's Branch" of the Citizens League of Daly City was held at the home of Mrs. Woodhouse, 15 Wellington ave., on Monday last with a most representative body of intelligent, active women present.

Seating capacity for over thirty was provided for, but this soon became insufficient and the hostess was kept busy hunting for additional seating accommodation, as one after another arrived and taxed every available space in the spacious parlors kindly thrown open for this public spirited event.

The proceedings were opened by Mrs. E. J. Gozzett, who said in part, as follows: "We have assembled here today to form a woman's branch of the Citizens League of Daly City. The object of this branch is to support the policy of the Citizen's League insofar as the women members decide that the present organization is working for the betterment of City, County, State and National affairs.

Any woman voter registered within the precincts of Daly City, may become a member by merely signing the roll, which simply asks that all connected with the League shall assist in the election and support of the candidates now running for office on the Citizen's League ticket and to suggest at any time to our city officials, any matter that may legally be brought before them which the women deem important.

The speaker further urged the importance of systematic and energetic work during the present campaign, in order to redeem our City from the odium forced upon it by incompetent and unworthy officials, as well as hinting at the coming Fall elections when many questions affecting the home and welfare of children will come up for consideration at the polls.

The assembly was honored by the presence of Mrs. M. Miller and Mrs. S. McRoskey of Burlingame and San Mateo, whose names are well known in "Civic Centre" and kindred organizations, and upon request, took charge of the meeting during the election of officers, supplementing the procedure with a pleasant and forceful address on the good that women may accomplish by an intelligent use of the ballot.

The following officers were elected by unanimous vote, and committees appointed to carry out the various details:

President—Mrs. E. J. Gozzett.
Secretary—Mrs. L. V. Fine.
Treasurer—Mrs. E. C. Wilson.
Finance Committee—Mrs. T. F. O'Rourke, Mrs. W. McKay, Mrs. L. V. Fine.
Press and Publicity Committee—Mrs. J. L. Brown, Mrs. W. J. Sweeney, Mrs. C. H. Rothwell.
Campaign Committee—Mrs. E. Freyer, Mrs. Squires, Mrs. G. E. Peterson.
Programme Committee—Mrs. E. J. Gozzett, Mrs. A. Stockton, Mrs. E. Talbot, Mrs. G. E. Peterson.
Executive Committee—Mrs. F. B. Woodhouse, Mrs. T. P. Moran, Mrs. E. Freyer, Mrs. B. S. Rothwell, Mrs. G. Savage.

A rising vote of thanks was accorded to the visiting ladies, Mrs. Miller and Mrs. McRoskey, who signed the roll as honorary members, and the following names were added to the permanent list:

Elfrida A. Sweeney, Mrs. R. McRoskey, Glenice E. Peterson, Mrs. R.

Fine, Mrs. E. C. Wilson, Mrs. Walter Tickner, Mrs. E. Brehany, Mrs. T. F. O'Rourke, Mrs. E. A. Ward, Mrs. G. B. Miller

The various committees of the Woman's Branch will meet tonight, (Friday) at 7:30 to complete arrangements for the success of the Citizens League ticket, and on Tuesday, the 24 inst. a regular meeting will be held to receive the names of any ladies who may be willing to work for a better business administration for Daly City and to aid in putting men into office who will give the people an honest return for the taxes, by bringing about the many necessary public improvements.

All meetings will be held at the home of Mrs. Woodhouse, 15 Wellington avenue, until further notice.

DALY CITY TRUSTEES

Business Transacted by the Board at Its Last Meeting

The Daly City Board of Trustees met Monday evening with all members present.

Frank Imsand asked for and was granted a renewal of his saloon license.

Margaret Donovan protested against her taxes, and the same was consigned to the sacred tomb where rests hundreds of other protests against the iniquitous tax levy that was excessively made in order to enable the trustees to boom their campaign. It is quite evident that the solid three never intended to adjust those claims. They dare not do it—neither do they dare publish an itemized Statement of the Receipts and Disbursements of Daly City, to show how that $5,329.43 was wasted.

A complaint was made to the dumping of macadam on Liebig street by the State Highway constructors. Filed.

The Pacific Gas & Electric Co. applied for and were granted a permit to install gas at some point in the Crocker Tract.

A communication was received from Spitzer & Rorick of Chicago, to whom the sale of the bonds was awarded at par, stating that they had received the abstract and the same would be examined as soon as their attorney could get time to do so, he being very busy. The communication also asked for additional information regarding the date of election, number of schools in Daly City and the attendance.

The city election ordinance for April 13, 1914, was passed giving the voting places and election officials for the five precincts. The ordinance will be published next week.

Under Rule 9, someone in the audience inquired if the city would repair the damage done on Irvington and other streets in the Crocker Tract, but received no satisfaction. Someone else wanted to know about the Holbrook house that is in the street.

After the allowance of a large number of claims, including the usual Smith claims of course, the board adjourned.

The ladies of the M. E. Church Ladies' Aid wish to announce that they have ready-made women's and children's garments for sale, or will make to order. The profits are to be used for a worthy cause.

OFFICE OF THE CLERK OF THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.

San Mateo County, California, March 16, 1914.

Sealed bids will be received by the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors at his office until 10 o'clock A. M., Monday, April 6, 1914, for the construction of 3.835 miles of highway on what is known as the Colma to Half Moon Bay Road, beginning at a point in the town of Brighton Beach at a point known as Station 55+00, Route 2, Division 2 of San Mateo County Highways, and extends in a general southerly direction to a point on the bank of San Pedro Creek known as Station 266+25, Route 2, Division 2 of San Mateo County Highways.

Specifications for this work are on file in the office of the Clerk of said Board, to which bidders are hereby referred.

All bids must be made upon blank forms, to be obtained at the County Surveyor's office of said County, at Redwood City; must give the price proposed, both in writing and figures, and must be signed by the bidder with his address.

The bid is to be accompanied by a certified check equal to ten (10) per cent of the total of the bid, upon the condition that if said bid shall be accepted, the party bidding will duly enter into the contract and faithfully perform his contract in accordance with his bid, and the plans and specifications. Such check to be made payable to said County of San Mateo.

A common law bond will be required for the faithful performance of the contract in such sum as shall be fixed by the said Board of Supervisors after the bids are opened; said sum shall not be less than one-fourth (1/4) and not more than one-half (1/2) of the estimated amount of the contract; and a further bond in a sum equal to one-half (1/2) of the estimated amount of the contract must be furnished as required by the terms of an act entitled, "An act to secure the payment of the claims of material-men, mechanics, or laborers employed by contractors upon State, municipal, or other public works," approved March 27, 1897, and acts amendatory thereof.

The contractor to whom the contract may be awarded will be required to appear at the office of the County Clerk with the sureties offered by him and execute the contract within ten (10) days (not including Sundays) from the date of the awarding of the contract, and in case of failure or neglect so to do, he will be considered as having abandoned it, and the check shall be forfeited to the County of San Mateo.

Bids must be enclosed in a sealed envelope, addressed to the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors, and must be endorsed "Bids for Constructing a Portion of Colma to Half Moon Bay Road—Brighton Beach to San Pedro."

The Board of Supervisors reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

JOS. H. NASH,
Clerk of the Board of Supervisors of the County of San Mateo.

This notice first appeared in the Daly City Record, March 20, 1914 and is published three times.

Misfortunes of Angelo Micheletti

That misfortunes never come singly is well illustrated in the case of Angelo Micheletti, whose ranch is in the gulch beyond the wireless telegraph station from Daly City, near what is known as the "Nigger Mitchell" ranch. He is well known in Colma where he has a host of friends who truly sympathize with him. Angelo Micheletti came to Colma about fifteen years ago and settled on the ranch that he still owns and by the greatest industry, succeeded in the accumulation of considerable property. In fact, everything that he touched seemed to turn to cash until about a year ago.

Th first disaster that befell him was an accident in which his boy was run over, necessitating the amputation of his leg, and his life was saved only by the greatest efforts that required the best medical and surgical skill. This of course cost a large sum of money, but even that did not insure the lad's good health. Not long after that, Micheletti lost a barn, containing two car loads of valuable hay by fire, with no insurance, and during the last year eighteen of his best horses have died. Then again, his brother was the victim of a runaway accident, being thrown out in front of Coakley's road house about three months ago and was instantly killed. With all else, Micheletti's family has been cursed with a great deal of sickness and a streak of general misfortune seems to have pervaded the atmosphere, so that all his neighbors and friends are most sincerely in sympathy with him.

For Sale—A 1913 Indian motorcycle, fully equipped; price $220. Enquire at 145 Santa Ana avenue, Daly City.

If we are going to pay our city trustees a salary, get good men who are worth their hire, such as Moran, O'Rourke and Poor.

Much cabbage and cauliflower is being shipped these days from Colma locality. The Ocean Shore gets nearly all the artichokes.

Architect Edward Freyer is busy on plans for Abel Fibish to remodel his house which will be quite attractive when completed.

L. Fellman is putting in a new sewer system for the Jefferson Hall School. He is determined to improve the conditions there.

Chester Pratt is nominated as delegate from El Carmelo Parlor, No. 256, N. S. G. W., to the Grand Parlor, which meets in Los Angeles this year.

W. L. Gregory, one of Daly City's good citizens, returned last week from Marshall, California, where he had been employed for a couple of months.

Died. At Grass Valley, California, Emilio Madrigal, beloved brother of G. Madrigal, proprietor of the Hotel Italia, Mission road, Colma. A native of Italy aged 50 years.

When Lent is over the first grand ball will be given by the Druids in Colma hall. The jolly night will be the 18th of April, the anniversary of the earthquake. Everybody is going to be there.

If me-too double-(c)ross should get $15. a month for the next two years—but what has that to do with the municipal water system well that is being bored by Spellman at the corner of his lot?

Mrs. Frank R. Sampson and her little daughters, and Frances, left Wednesday to join Mr. Sampson at Dinuba, where they will likely make their future home. Their many friends regret to lose such good citizens.

El Carmelo Parlor, 256, N. S. G. W. will give a grand ball at Colma Hall, on Saturday evening, May 9, 1914, at which the music will be furnished by Backstidt's orchestra. Supper at 12 o'clock. Last car at 3 a. m. Admission 25 cents.

Dr. George Compton of San Francisco will give an entertainment at the Presbyterian church, corner Green avenue and Hanover street, on Tuesday evening, April 14, 1914. The title will be "An Evening of Magic." Admission 15 cents.

The city election ordinance passed last Monday night, contains a provision to be voted upon, establishing a salary of $15 a month for the city trustees. It is to be hoped we will get other trustees, like Freyer, who will be worthy of their hire.

Fine Property for Sale—Lot 50 by 140, with 5 room, hardwood finished house and 7 foot basement. There is also a 4 room bungalow in rear. Splendid bargain. Location 616 Grand avenue, South San Francisco. See proprietor J. Caccari on premises.

C. W. Butler returned Wednesday from his business trip to Eastern cities, after an absence of about six weeks. He reports encountering the severe weather in New York and elsewhere, that caused him to increase his good opinion of Sunny California.

Rudolf Kramer had the misfortune of getting his hand caught in a saw Monday, in the box factory in the city where he is employed. He is at the hospital, where it was learned that he will probably lose his thumb and will be laid up for two or three months.

Flynn and Tracy have a large force of men at work on the completion of their State Highway contract through Daly City, between Sickles avenue and the top of the hill. It will not be very long now until we will have one of the finest streets in the State of California.

The self-styled "Business Manager," who is also a Socialist organizer is very loud mouthed in denouncing the former Board of Trustees. He forgets because he wants to, that he was the greatest beneficiary of that board in the way of work, doing many times more than citizens who were far more worthy.

New Barber Shop—Daly City has one of the finest barber shops on the peninsula. It is located at 508 Mission, near Theta avenue, and is certainly a model, with every modern improvement and convenience. "Doc" Haynes, the proprietor, is a first-class tonsorial artist. Ladies' shampoo from 9 to 12, every day except Saturday, Sunday and Holidays only 35 cents.

Where, oh where! is that $5,329.43? Perhaps it is in the tomb where rests all those excessive tax complaints, together with that decision of the city attorney regarding that San Bruno road matter. And also—the data for an itemized statement of the expenses and disbursements of Daly City, such as "Blackie" Ford, services after he skipped out, leaving Daly City to pay the bills.

The ladies of the Campaign Committee are to meet with Mrs. Woodhouse, 15 Wellington avenue, Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, to perfect their organization into what will likely be the Ladies Auxiliary of the Citizen's League of Daly City. Every lady on the above list is invited to attend and all others who wish to unite with this movement to purify the conditions of Daly City.

Mr. Daly has a force of men busy blasting and excavating to make room for the removal of his two buildings, the Junction Restaurant and the candy store. In order to widen Mission street at that corner for the purpose of improving the State Highway, Messrs. Daly and Knowles give a ten foot strip on that side of the street.

Speaking of these 6-inch joists in the new municipal building, if Trustee Freyer had been consulted on the acceptance of these plans and specifications, no such rank bull would have slipped by his notice. This is not only another proof of incompetence but is also another proof of narrow-mindedness that has resulted in the loss of a large number of dollars to our taxpayers—for the change costs money.

Who is going to pay the property owners on Irving, Brunswick, Hanover and other good streets in the Crocker Tract for the great damage caused, because the city trustees didn't sense enough to enforce their police power and compel the United Railroads to construct their tracks on Mission street between the top of the hill and Sickles avenue without interfering with traffic, the same as was done from the top of the hill to Orange Avenue?

Mrs. Margaret Koss, who lives on Santa Ana avenue, became seriously ill Wednesday and her mental condition was so deranged that it was thought best to take her before Judge Buck in Redwood City, who decided after a careful examination that she should go to St. Agnews for a few weeks. Mrs. Koss is an unfortunate, but good woman, having had great trouble lately on account of the divorce from her husband, and has the sympathy of many friends.

By the utter incompetence of the city trustees, the United Railroads were permitted to completely blockade traffic on Mission, between the top of the hill and Sickles avenue, or several months, so that four of the fine streets in the Crocker Tract were damaged several thousands dollars worth. If there had been business men in control of our city affairs, the United Railroads would have been compelled to do as they did from the top of the hill to Orange avenue, rebuild one track at a time and not interfere with traffic.

The mosquito committee visited Colma one day last week and found many of the insects' breeding places. The people there can not help the conditions since there is no sewer system, and to put in one will be a difficult and expensive proposition, but in meekness, it may be remarked that the health of the people has always been the best in the country and only one person has ever complained about mosquitoes. They never trouble like they do in other places. It seems that the battle should be fought where it gathers and attacks, not where it never molests.

Daly City, that in a few years will be the Evanston of Chicago, to San Francisco, and have more population than all the rest of San Mateo county combined, is erecting a cheap, 6-inch joist, barn-like, municipal building for campaign purposes that will never be worth its cost, of about $6,000 as a starter. Daly City now has a population equal or greater than any other city in San Mateo county, yet San Mateo City is erecting a $65,000 municipal building; Burlingame one for $25,000, while Redwood City already has one that cost $22,500.

Citizen's League Meeting

Knowles Hall was well filled at the initial campaign meeting of the Citizen's League of Daly City last Wednesday evening.

H. C. Rothwell presided and in opening the meeting made a few very timely remarks to the effect that heretofore he had followed a watching and waiting course, hoping for an improvement in conditions of Daly City. But that now he considered that all good citizens must put their shoulder to the wheel in order to secure a decent city government.

Each of the candidates were presented and responded with a few remarks, pledging their best efforts to advance the city's interests, and then came the main speaker of the evening a Mr. Dunn, of San Francisco, who gave a most excellent address on the subject of Municipalities of the Sixth Class and of Efficient City Officials. He pointed out many nearby young cities that have had varied experiences as the results of the efficiency or deficiency of the city trustees, and when he concluded he received a very hearty applause.

The next mass-meeting will be held at Crocker Tract Hall next Wednesday evening, March 25, and will undoubtedly be greatly interesting. Following that meeting there will be others at Ryans Hall, Bracken's Hall, Band Hall, another at Knowles Hall and likely others, for it is the determination of the good people who are interested in the Citizen's League of Daly City that every honest effort will be made for a clean, business-like city government.

Resolutions of Respect

Bro. William H. Almon. Whereas, The Almighty Ruler in His infinite wisdom, has seen fit to enter our ranks and take from us our Brother, William H. Almon, be it

Resolved, That it is but a just tribute to the memory of the departed to say in regretting his removal that, we, the members of Colma Vista Grande Aerie, 1848, of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, mourn for one who was a faithful and conscientious worker, worthy of our highest respect; be it therefore

Resolved, That his immediate family have our sincere condolence in this, the hour of their bereavement, that has come so unexpectedly upon them, and we humbly commend them for sympathy to Him who orders all things for the best, and that this testimonial of our sympathy be forwarded to his wife, a copy be spread on our minutes and our charter be draped for thirty days.

Committee: Geo. W. Savage, A. J. Bodien, H. Harper.

G. J. Doering is progressing nicely with his work on the new municipal building, notwithstanding the change that had to be made owing to the deficiency of the plans wherein six-inch joists were designated on the lower floor. This was not Doering's fault of course, in fact, the people are decidedly fortunate that so reliable a man secured the contract for construction.

RESOLUTION OF INTENTION
No. 1

RESOLVED, that it is the intention of the Board of Trustees of Daly City to order the following work to be done and improvement to be made in said city, to-wit:

That Hillcrest Drive in said city, on the Southern side thereof, from the Easterly line of Railroad Avenue to a point 1000 feet Easterly from the Easterly line of San Diego Avenue, and on the Northern side thereof, from the Easterly line of Railroad Avenue to a point 70.82 feet Easterly from the point of intersection of the Northernly line of said Hillcrest Drive with the Easterly line of Santa Barbara Avenue, have artificial stone sidewalks six (6) feet wide constructed to the official grade, where such sidewalks have not already been constructed as indicated on the plan adopted for doing said work, save and excepting the crossings and terminations shown thereon and included therein, upon all of which said crossings and terminations artificial stone sidewalks and curbs shall be constructed upon the full space allotted for sidewalk purposes as shown on said plan, and the curbs shall conform to the curved lines shown thereon.

All work shall be done in accordance with the special plans and specifications heretofore adopted for doing said work and now on file in the office of the city clerk.

The clerk shall cause this Resolution of Intention to be published twice in the Daly City Record, a weekly newspaper published and circulated in said city, and hereby designated for that purpose by the Board of Trustees.

The Street Superintendent shall, immediately, cause to be conspicuously posted along the line of said contemplated work and improvement, notices of the passage of this Resolution of Intention, in the manner and form required by law.

All of the herein proposed work shall be done in pursuance of an act of the Legislature of the State of California, designated as the "Improvement Act of 1911" approved April 7, 1911.

I hereby certify that the foregoing Resolution of Intention was duly and regularly introduced and adopted by the Board of Trustees of the City of Daly City on the 2d day of March, 1914, by the following vote:

Ayes, Trustees Biebel, Freyer, Green, Landini, Ross.
Noes, Trustees none.
Absents, Trustees none.

ATTEST:
GEO. N. SMITH, City Clerk.

An Embroidery Frame That Leaves the Hands Free.

For the benefit of needle and embroidery workers an Indiana man has designed a handy apparatus. A lap-board has a pair of uprights mounted on it and rocking arms resting in grooves at the tops of the standards. These are short arms, and on their inner ends are clamps to hold the hoops in which the fabric is held taut. On the outer ends of the arms are knobs by means of which they may be manipulated. An elbow rest is mounted in front of the uprights. The needle worker holds the device on her lap and by turning the knobs on the outer ends of the arms adjusts the hoop to whatever angle she desires. It is thus held firmly, and she can give her whole attention to the making of intricate stitches and if necessary rest her forearms.

Deviled Tomatoes.

Peel and slice tomatoes, sprinkle them with salt and pepper, dredge with flour and fry in butter. Place on a hot platter and pour over this dressing: Four tablespoonfuls of butter, creamed with two tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar, one teaspoonful of mustard, one quarter of a teaspoonful of salt, a little cayenne and the yolk of a hard boiled egg. Add one egg slightly beaten and two tablespoonfuls of vinegar. Cook over hot water till it thickens, stirring all the time with a silver or wooden spoon.

Corn Chowder.

Put a large spoonful of bacon fat into a frying pan, and when hot put in a medium sized onion cut into thin slices, cook till soft and yellow, add a pint of water and let simmer. Pare four or five potatoes, slice thin, put in a pan, pour over them the water from the onions, add more water if necessary and cook till potatoes are tender. Then add a pint of green corn or canned corn, a pint of milk and salt and pepper to taste. Mix well, let it get very hot, stir in a spoonful of butter and serve.

Spanish Pork Chops.

Put two pounds of pork chops into a baking pan with one cupful of hot water. Place in a hot oven and bake one half hour, basting often. Then take out, sprinkle with salt and pepper and cover with one pound of onions, sliced thin. Bake fifteen minutes, then cover with one-half can of tomatoes and bake again for twenty minutes. Put meat and vegetables on heated platter, pour gravy around meat and serve at once.

Southern Corn Pone.

One cupful of white cornmeal, one teaspoonful of salt, one tablespoonful of lard, enough boiling water to moisten the meal, two tablespoonfuls of cold sweet milk and one tablespoonful of sugar. Stir all together, beat in two eggs and add two teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Have buttered pan very hot and bake in quick oven twenty five minutes.

Southern Beaten Biscuit.

One pint of flour, one rounding tablespoonful of lard, one-half teaspoonful of salt and one-half cupful of milk of water. Put lard and salt into sifted flour, blend thoroughly and add liquid. The dough should be thick and stiff. Knead until it blisters, roll as thin as possible, prick with fork and bake in quick oven.

Brunswick Stew.

This is a Virginia dish and very palatable. A medium sized chicken cut as for frying, two ears of corn cut from the cob, a generous handful of lima beans and three tomatoes. The chicken is parboiled and then add the vegetables, add also seasoning of salt and pepper and the whole cooked one hour.

Honey Gingerbread.

Put a scant teaspoonful of soda in a teacup, pour five tablespoonfuls of hot water on the soda; then fill the cup with extracted honey. Take one-half cupful of butter and one egg and beat together. Add two cupfuls of flour and one teaspoonful of ginger. Stir all together and bake in a very slow oven.

Spiced Tomatoes.

To each pound of sliced, ripe, red tomatoes allow one-half teaspoonful each of cinnamon, clove and allspice and one-fourth teaspoonful salt, one half pound of sugar and one scant half pint of vinegar. Simmer till thick and place in jars.

THE HUMORIST

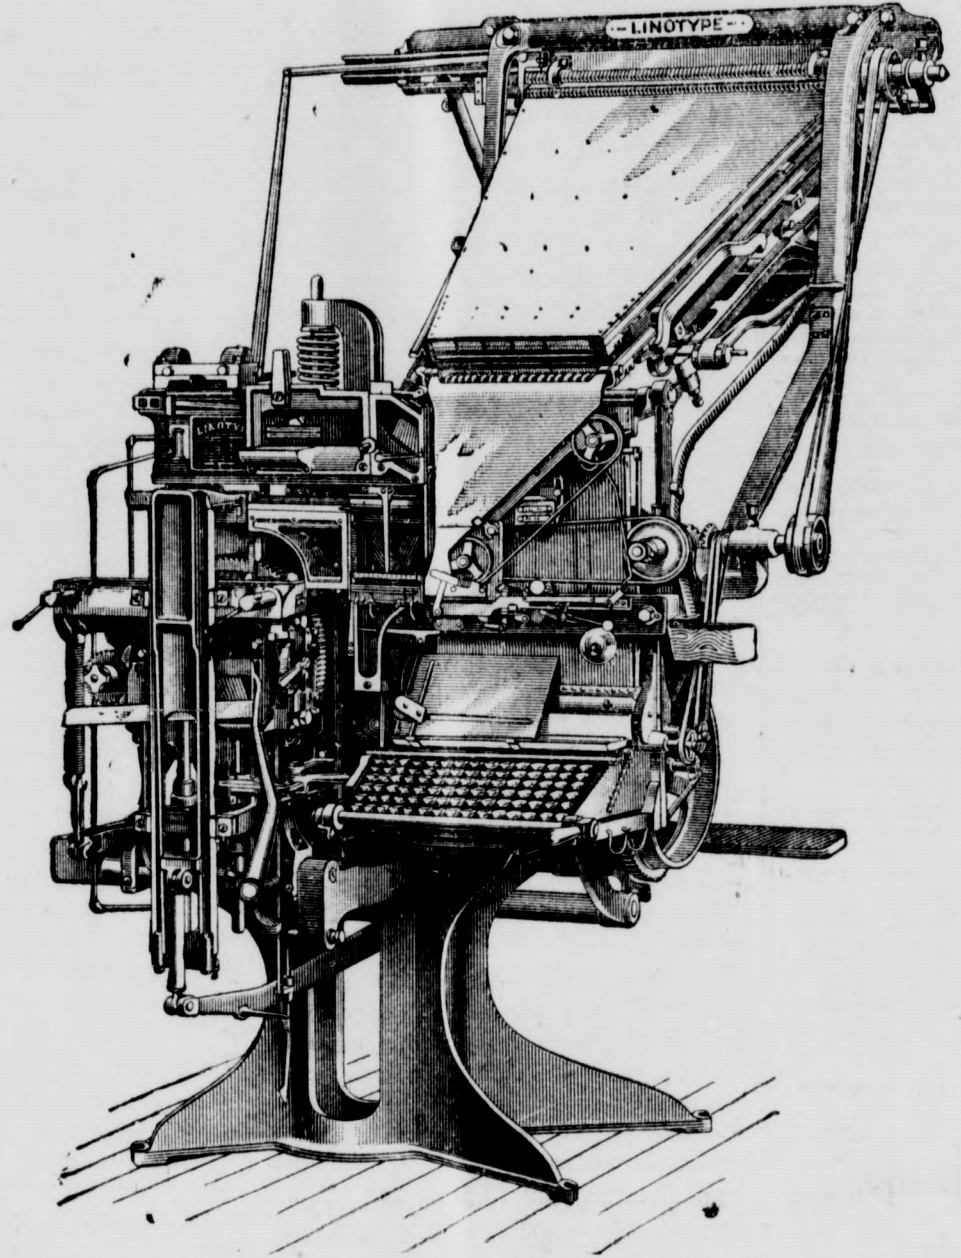

I serve the Lords of Laughter,
I serve the gods of mirth,
I make the world a dafter
And yet a gladder earth.
When woes grow thick and thicker
And life seems inky black,
By magic of a snicker
I drive the sorrows back.
I serve the Lords of Laughter
And, oh, I love to wake
The roar that shakes the rafter
And makes the midriff quake,
I care not for the flouting
Of bards who sneer at me
If I can hear the shouting
Of great and gorgeous glee!
Oh, may the songs I sing you
Lift every heavy cloud,
And may I always bring you
Clean laughter, long and loud!
So when I pass hereafter
This truth the world may tell,
"He served the Lords of Laughter
And always served them well!"

I'm thankful that the sun and moon
Are both hung up so high
That no reforming hand can reach
And take them from the sky.
For if they weren't, I have no doubt
That some presumptuous ass
Would try to take them from their place,
And light the world with "gas."

SWEETHEART SPRING

Sweetheart Spring is coming, coming, there is music in the air,
All the hidden looms are humming, weaving things for her to wear;
Every joyful thing is doing when her banners crown the hills
And the passion of her wooing thro' the happy valley thrills.
Songs are in the wide elysian high above the shining trees,
Little fern folk have the vision lispings thanks upon their Knees—
You have seen the little fern folk kneeling at the roots of trees?
The same eager stir of being in the fronds of filmy lace
That uplifts the leaves to seeing how the clouds look, face to face;
The same quickened recognition throbbing in your veins and mine
Reaching, striving to fruition, half of earth and half divine.
Robes of green for her ordaining—these were finished long ago,
When our skies were dark with raining and our mountains
white with snow.
Well we knew what rains were bringing in that little long ago:
Million blossoms to be borning, soft within their covers furled,
Till the orchards' bridal morning burst upon a fairy world—
You have seen an almond orchard with its colors all unfurled?
And already gold is glowing in acacia's shaded green,
And already moist winds blowing 'cross the lupin's wild demense
Bring the scent of honey hoarded by this Lady of the Sand,
Where in billowy dunes unguarded she alone elects to stand—
You have seen her clustered blossoms in the yellow waves of sand?
Misty blue of lilac drifted up the canons' 'broided wall
That the fairest bloom be lifted where the lights unhindered fall;
Manzanita's waxen flowers, iris crowding up for room,
Lady-smocks for early hours, violets purple with perfume;—
Smell of earth in tended gardens where the wakened green-eries smile
Rank on rank like knight and warden for the good man's peaceful mile—
You have seen, this side Sierra, such a growing garden smile?
Daisies, daisies, always daisies, nestled in the friendly sward;
Poppies, poppies, where one pleases just to speak the welcome word.
Filaree and brookside rushes overshadowing the grass,
Musk of new-leaved hazel bushes happy in a tangled mass—
Rain and sunshine wove together, should one try to tell it all,
Pimpernel to mountain heather, myriads more and more to call—
You have seen the piteous failure when one tries to tell it all?
But my son is only saying, I am glad they let me stay
One more time to go a-Maying, one more revel by the way,
One more revel of the roses— O my bird upon the wing
What is it your song discloses that my soul so long to sing?
You have heard the whisper pledges of the love that never fails:
Pink wild roses in the hedges, roses on the trellis rails—
You have read the leaves of roses when all other comfort fails?
By the blue in highest heaven, baby-blue-eyes in the grass
Like wee samples kindly given of the colors in her class.

The American Code

How It Was Adhered to in Italy

By THOMAS R. DEAN

In Europe, while the spirit of dueling died out, the form remains, except England, where the people have always been one or two centuries ahead of those on the continent. Every now and then some Englishman or American in France or Germany or Italy is himself up against a system with which he has no sympathy and for which in America no preparation is required.

The American has an advantage in being out of such affairs without discredit in his inexhaustible assurance of resource. Some years ago a party of Americans got together at the principal hotel in Rome on the Esquiline, making each other's acquaintance, as Americans abroad do, visiting the sights together or at least meeting together at dinner after having no so during the day. There were men and women among them, mostly young and full of life and spirit.

One of the men, Ernest Denbigh, who owned a ranch in New Mexico, had brought letters to the American minister, and that functionary, having taken a fancy to him, presented him at court and procured invitations for him to society. Since there was nothing about a man who had spent several years of his life in the wild and coolly west of America, he helped such members of the party he had fallen in with as desired to see Roman society. At a ball at the Quirinal palace Denbigh was introduced to the Princess scion, a beautiful girl, who fell desperately in love with him. Moreover, the young lady, being one of the poorest members of the Italian nobility, was not averse to wedding an American who, though he was without a title, was, as all Americans abroad are supposed to be, very rich.

Denbigh was as much smitten with the princess as she was with him, and the course of true love might have run smooth enough had it not been that Prince Pinciano, an equerry to the king, was himself in love with the princess and did not propose to give her up without a struggle.

One evening Denbigh and one of his American friends, Clarkson, were at one of the fashionable clubs in Rome playing baccarat. Pinciano came in and joined in the game. Denbigh had no knowledge of the prince or of his pretensions to the hand of the Princess Ascoli. He was therefore greatly surprised when Pinciano threw down his cards and, pointing to Denbigh, declared that he would play no more with that lowborn American who made money by cheating and, rising, left the room.

Denbigh at once called for an investigation, but a member of the club took him aside and told him that the charge was well understood to be a mere pretext to keep the name of a lady from being connected with a duel which was inevitable between himself and his accuser. On being assured that he would not suffer any stigma from the charge itself he withdrew his request. But he was given to understand that if he did not challenge Pinciano he would be obliged to give up the social position he occupied and would be cut by his Roman acquaintances.

Denbigh and Clarkson immediately left the club and, going to the hotel, called a concave of the young men of the party. Two of them had not gone to bed. The other, who had done so, was awakened by the party entering his room and turning on the lights.

Clarkson before leaving the club had been told that Pinciano was experienced both with the foils and the pistol. Denbigh had no skill with the foils, but had while on his ranch practiced the quick shooting in vogue in western America. The question was: Should he claim his privilege as an American of declining what was virtually a challenge, or, if he must fight, how do so without being at a disadvantage? After some debate, in which the principal took no part and which resulted in his being advised to stand on his dignity rather than yield to a custom handed down from the middle ages, Denbigh said:

"Clarkson, I wish you would go back to the club, find the man with whom Pinciano has left his case and say to him that if he thinks to force me into a position all to his advantage he is much mistaken. I am not an Italian used to Italian methods, but an American used to American methods. His charge is generally understood to be a pretext. Technically, if I fight him, I must challenge him. I will not fight him unless he will consent to consider his action at the club this evening not an insult, but a challenge. If he agrees to this you are authorized to accept the challenge, and, since this gives me the choice of weapons, you may arrange the affair in this way:

"At 4 o'clock in the morning I will start from this hotel, walk down the Via Cavour to the main thoroughfare leading to the Pincian gardens and, turning into it, walk toward them. The prince is to leave the gardens at the same time and walk in this direction. When we meet either may open fire at will with revolvers. Either may take to a side street or any article of defense he may find handy."

It was generally agreed among the consulting party that if Denbigh really meant to fight this was the best position that could be suggested. Clarkson went to the club, where he found Captain Carried ready to receive any communication he might have from Denbigh. When Clarkson delivered his message the captain looked surprised.

"But we do not fight that way here in Italy," he protested, "nor is it done anywhere in Europe."

"And we do not fight your way in America. It is your principal that desires to fight mine, not mine yours, and since the prince desires a meeting he must consent to the methods used in the only part of America where quarrels are settled by arms, and every day such cases are becoming more rare as civilization spreads over a country that has been gradually passing from savages to white men."

The captain said that he would submit the proposition to his principal and withdrew for that purpose. Clarkson lighted a cigarette and looked over periodicals for some time, during which he was thinking what would be the effect of a proposition so entirely at variance with the European code duello. Presently a member of the club came to him and said that the prince had referred the message to a committee for its decision as to what reply he should send to Denbigh. The committee had sent Clarkson in informant to him to protest against any such custom being engrafted upon the Italian code and would be pleased if Signor Denbigh would fight according to the code if the prince were considered the challenger, the challenged man choosing the foils or the pistol according to accepted rules.

Clarkson took the responsibility upon himself of replying to this for his principal in the negative. Denbigh would fight, if he must fight, under protest, since there was no just cause for a quarrel between him and the prince. But if forced to fight he would only do so in accordance with the custom of his own country. Having delivered himself of this reply, Clarkson lighted another cigarette, took up a newspaper, and the messenger went back to the committee with the message.

There is a proper sense of courtesy to visitors in all countries. The committee recognized that it occupied a delicate position. An American gentleman had visited Rome, been introduced to society by the representative of his government and had become popular. A Roman lady had accepted his attentions. A rival, an Italian of high rank had sought to eliminate him from the lady's circle, first, by an accusation which was untrue and, second, by forcing him to fight under the Italian code which had no standing in America. While the committee recognized that a pretext was necessary in a case where a lady was involved, the whole matter appeared to it as an inhospitable act to a visitor to Italy.

Its decision was that if Prince Pinciano insisted on the meeting he must accept Denbigh's terms. But it recommended that under the circumstances the Italian make a statement that he had been mistaken in accusing Denbigh of having cheated at cards and apologize for having made the charge.

The first information Clarkson had of all this was when a door was opened and the prince's friend, Captain Carried, entered, bearing a written statement and apology from his principal to Denbigh. Clarkson concealed his delight. He folded the paper, put it in his pocket, bowed formally to the captain and leisurely left the club. But as soon as he reached the sidewalk he called a cab and, putting 5 lire in advance into the driver's hand, told him to drive in a hurry to the hotel. Though it was now 2 o'clock in the morning the party were awaiting him.

"An apology!" he explained, throwing the paper he had brought at Denbigh.

"Read it aloud!" cried every man present.

Denbigh read the apology, and after a celebration in honor of the event the party went to bed.

The next day the episode was the talk of Rome, but very few knew that a lady had been the cause. The princess soon heard of it and was told that Pinciano had sought to clear the field of a preferred suitor for her hand. When she met him at a ball in the evening she ignored him.

However, there was no match between her and Denbigh, for her father objected to her going to America and Denbigh would not consent to become an Italian.

ROSES, O BEAUTIFUL ROSES

Roses, O beautiful roses,
That open when sounds on high
The music of Morning's trumpets,
How easily ye can lie
Where delicate hands arrange ye.
How graciously ye can press
Close, close to a girl's fair beauty,
Nor envy her loveliness.
Roses, O beautiful roses,
That slumber when winds the horn
Of the dream-compelling Even,
What fragrances rare are born
The while the pale moon above us
Glides slowly from star to star,
Unconscious of lesser splendors
In the garden of earth afar.
Roses, O beautiful roses,
Since ever the world began
Ye hear the sweet vows of lovers,
The whispers of maid and man.
And when the Beloved leaves us,
As ever Beloved must,
We kiss ye, O beautiful roses,
And lay ye upon her dust.

OUT WHERE THE WEST BEGINS

Out where the handclasp's a little stronger,
Out where a smile dwells a little longer,
That's where the West begins.
Out where the sun's a little brighter,
Where the snow that falls is a trifle whiter,
Where the bonds of home are a wee bit tighter,
There's where the West begins.
Out where the skies are a trifle bluer,
Out where friendship's a little truer,
That's where the West begins.
Out where a fresher breeze is blowing,
Where there's laughter in every streamlet flowing,
Where there's more of reaping and less of sowing,
That's where the West begins.
Out where the world is in the making,
Where fewer hearts with despair are aching,
That's where the West begins.
Where there is more of singing and less of sighing,
Where there is more of giving and less of buying,
Where a man makes friends without half trying,
That's where the West begins.

I am tired of knockers—
They make me hot,
Tired of hearing their horrible rot,
Tired of folks always chewing,
Tired of trouble always brewing,
Tired of air hot and cold,
Tired of those who always scold,
Tired of deceit—tired of woe,
Tired of tares that workers sow.

SHAKING HANDS

Shaking hands is a very simple thing and yet in most instances it is a matter of no little importance, and sometimes a good hearty handshake is worth a fortune to a man. There ought, always, of course, to be good cheer, sympathy, friendship, yet an inspiration in the handshake. Here is a little story giving the origin of shaking hands, from which it will be seen that there has been wonderful progress in the handshaking custom since it first began. As a bit of ancient history it is interesting:

In olden days when every man who had any pretensions of being a gentleman carried a sword, it was the custom for men when they met to show that they had no intention of treachery to offer each other their weapon hands, or in other words, the hand that would be used to draw the sword, and to hold back the hand usually a signal for a fight. This habit became so fixed that long after men ceased to wear swords they still offered the weapon hand to a friend and declined to offer it to an enemy. That his day when you refuse to shake hands with a person it signifies that you are at war. Among savages who never carried swords the practice of shaking hands is unknown, and it affords the man a great deal of amusement to see white men do it.—Main Sheet.

VICTORY FOR LABOR.

Trade Unions Officially Recognized by British Government.

A very important concession has been made by the British admiralty by officially recognizing trade unions. In reply to the demands of the dockyard men the admiralty agreed hereafter in the event of disputes to meet deputations of the workmen either in London or at the dockyards. It also not only accorded permission to the men in government employ to select their own representatives from the dockyards, but will allow them to be accompanied by trade union leaders not employed in the yards.

The favoring policy which the British government has long pursued toward labor organizations reaches in its latest development a quite unprecedented stage. In the Taff Vale and Osborne cases it had to do with the relations between labor and private employers, and in them it strongly favored the former. Now it extends the same principle to relations between labor and the government itself as an employer. Hereafter the admiralty in the national dockyards will recognize the unions and will treat with them through their representatives—who may be outsiders, not in government employ—instead of directly with the men in case of any dispute over wages or conditions of employment.

The supreme importance of this is obvious. Hereafter if the employees at Portsmouth or in London go on strike or make demands, instead of dealing directly with them, the government may have to negotiate with a board of walking delegates from the Yorkshire woolen mills or from the mines of Wales. It will also be confronted with the question of the "closed shop" and may be required to establish the rule that none but union members will be admitted to government employ, so that the public service will be substantially "unionized."

Whether it is judicious or not, this course is certainly consistent. The government is simply adopting for itself the policy which it has practically prescribed or at least has strongly favored for all other employers of labor. The effects of it will be watched for with intense interest, particularly its effects upon the present working agreement between the Laborites and the Liberals in parliament.

REST FOR WORKERS.

International Congress Adopts Drastring Resolutions.

The closing day of the international conference for the protection of workers at Berne, Switzerland, was marked by the adoption of a resolution declaring that workers must be allowed a nightly repose of eleven consecutive hours, which in all cases must include the hours from 10 p. m. to 5 a. m. Exception, however, is made in regard to coal miners, whose hours of repose may be changed, but must be longer. Boys under fourteen years of age were absolutely forbidden to work at night by another resolution.

The convention was signed by the delegates from Great Britain, Germany, Austria, Belgium, Spain, France, Italy, Norway, Holland, Sweden, Portugal and Switzerland, subject to legislation in the various countries. Other delegates, among them the Russian, decided to refer the convention to their governments for signature.

The United States was not represented at the conference.

Minimum Wage in Texas.

In connection with the agitation for the establishment by law of a minimum wage for women and child workers it is interesting to note that Fort Worth, Tex., claims the distinction of having established, by agreement between employing merchants and the Retail Clerks' International Protective association, the first minimum wage for women workers in stores. Ten years ago this agreement fixed the minimum wage at $5 per week; later it was raised to $6, and, doubtless due at least in some measure to the agitation carried on by the Retail Clerks' union, recently one of the merchants of Fort Worth has raised the minimum in his establishment to $9 per week, not even beginners being put to work at less than that rate.

Ladies' Tailors Win.

The strike of the 7,000 members of the Ladies' Tailors' union of New York, who struck some weeks ago, has been officially ended. The new agreement provides for a forty-eight hour working week, wages ranging from $17 to $27 a week for first class firms and from $15 to $24 a week for second class firms.

SCHOOL MONEY APPORTIONED

Semi-Annual Distribution of $2,513,340 Announced at Sacramento.

SACRAMENTO, March 16.—The semi-annual apportionment of State school funds for the benefit of the public elementary and high schools throughout the State, amounting to $2,513,340 was made to-day. Under the law, all of this money must be used for the payment of teachers' salaries, and the amount distributed at this time means that no teachers' warrant will be delayed payment during the rest of the year. In to-day's apportionment San Francisco gets $297,982, and Alameda county, $234,383.

With the apportionment made last September, this means that the State of California has so far appropriated during the current school year $5,468,180. There will be no more apportionments made this year for the high schools, but there will be a further apportionment mainly from poll tax receipts later in the spring, bringing up the sum total given by the State for education in the public schools to nearly $6,000,000 for the school year.

Of the apportionment just made, $2,165,616 is distributed on an average daily attendance per pupil basis to the fifty-eight counties of the State for their elementary schools, or the 246 high schools the sum of $347,724 is divided partly on a numerical school basis of $400 and partly on an average daily attendance whereby each school pupil unit is worth $5.41 to the individual high school district.

The elementary school apportionment is based entirely on average daily attendance, amounting to $7.27 per pupil. Before the year is over, the average daily attendance per pupil will be worth nearly $10 to the district. Statistician Wood of the Department of Education says that this statement should be impressed upon the teachers of the State to induce the maximum possible attendance upon the part of pupils enrolled.

The apportionment by counties follows:

REDWOOD CITY RUMBLINGS
The following marriage license was issued at San Rafael Friday: Charles E. Bacon, aged 26, and Christine S. Rul, aged 25, both of Redwood City. Harry Lyndall has removed with his wife to Oakland. Mr. Lyndall has accepted a position with the Standard Oil Company in San Francisco. He was employed for some time with the same company at this place, but resigned some months ago. The population of San Mateo county was 6635 in 1870, 1880 it was 3667, in 1890 it increased to 10,087 and in 1900 it was 12,094, and in 1910 it had reached 26,185. Thus the population doubled in the past ten years and it is safe to predict that it will treble in the coming ten years. Miss Louise Pitcher graduated with honors as professional nurse from the Children's hospital in San Francisco last week. She at once came here to reside with her mother and to practice her profession. Ever since she has been engaged on a case at the Huling sanitarium. The County Panama-Pacific Exposition Commission this week had pictures taken of the scenery along the Ocean Shore railroad and of large farms of growing artichokes. Films will be made from these pictures and they will be produced in the local show houses within the near future. The commission proposes to take pictures of every object of interest in the country. A small cottage belonging to J. J. Travers on Oak avenue was destroyed by fire Thursday night. The origin of the blaze is unknown. Mr. and Mrs. Travers were down town at the time and when the alarm was turned in, they left for the scene of the fire at once, but before they reached there the house was burned to the ground. C. J. Howard, a chauffeur for the Kelly Livery Company of San Francisco, arrested for speeding Sunday by Motorcycle Officer Jas. Logan at Menlo Park, was sentenced to a fine of $20 or an alternative of two days in the county jail by Justice of the Peace Lampkin Friday. "I haven't got the money, I guess I'll have to go to jail," said the prisoner. Howard was warned against speeding by Officer Logan several months ago. Charles Schmeir passed away at his home in San Francisco last week after a brief illness. His wife was formerly Miss Lilly Rumbol of this city.

ASSESSOR'S INSTRUCTIONS

TO OWNERS OF REAL ESTATE AND PERSONAL PROPERTY

The law requires each and every person who owns any class of property to annually, during the months of March, April or May, file a statement with the Assessor or his deputy in the county where his property is located. You should give a statement of all property owned by you on the first Monday in March at 12 o'clock m.
No change can be made by the Assessor after he turns over his books to the Board of Supervisors on the first Monday in July. The Board then sits as a Board of Equalization during the month of July.
Remember, if you fail to give in your assessment you fail to comply with the law and may cause yourself, the Assessor and Tax Collector much trouble, and very likely cause your self expense.
It is much more satisfactory to the Assessor, as well as to yourself, to have your assessment correct when you go to pay your taxes.
C. D. HAYWARD,
Assessor San Mateo County.

TAXES

1913-14

Office of County Tax Collector
San Mateo County
Redwood City, Cal., March 1st, 1914.
Notice is hereby given that the Second Installment of Taxes for the year 1913-4 is now due and payable in my office at the County Court House at Redwood City, daily, Sundays and legal holidays excepted, up to and including Monday, April 27th, 1914, at 6 o'clock p. m., when 5 per cent will be added to all taxes remaining unpaid.
Address all communications direct to County Tax Collector at Redwood City with reference to your County Taxes. U. S. postal money orders or checks on banks in the County of San Mateo will be accepted without exchange. Checks drawn on banks outside of San Mateo County must include exchange of ten cents on each one hundred dollars.
A. McSWEENEY,
County Tax Collector.
